

EYE OF PINK HEATER

COVER STORY

The deep blue MEDITERRANEAN SEA and its GREEK islands...

In Greece each place has its story and each ancient stone its mythology. When you read that Cape Sounion south end of Athens is known as the place from which the Aegean king would have thrown himself off a cliff. His son Theseus had promised him to change the black sails of his boat by white sails if he could defeat the Minotaur.

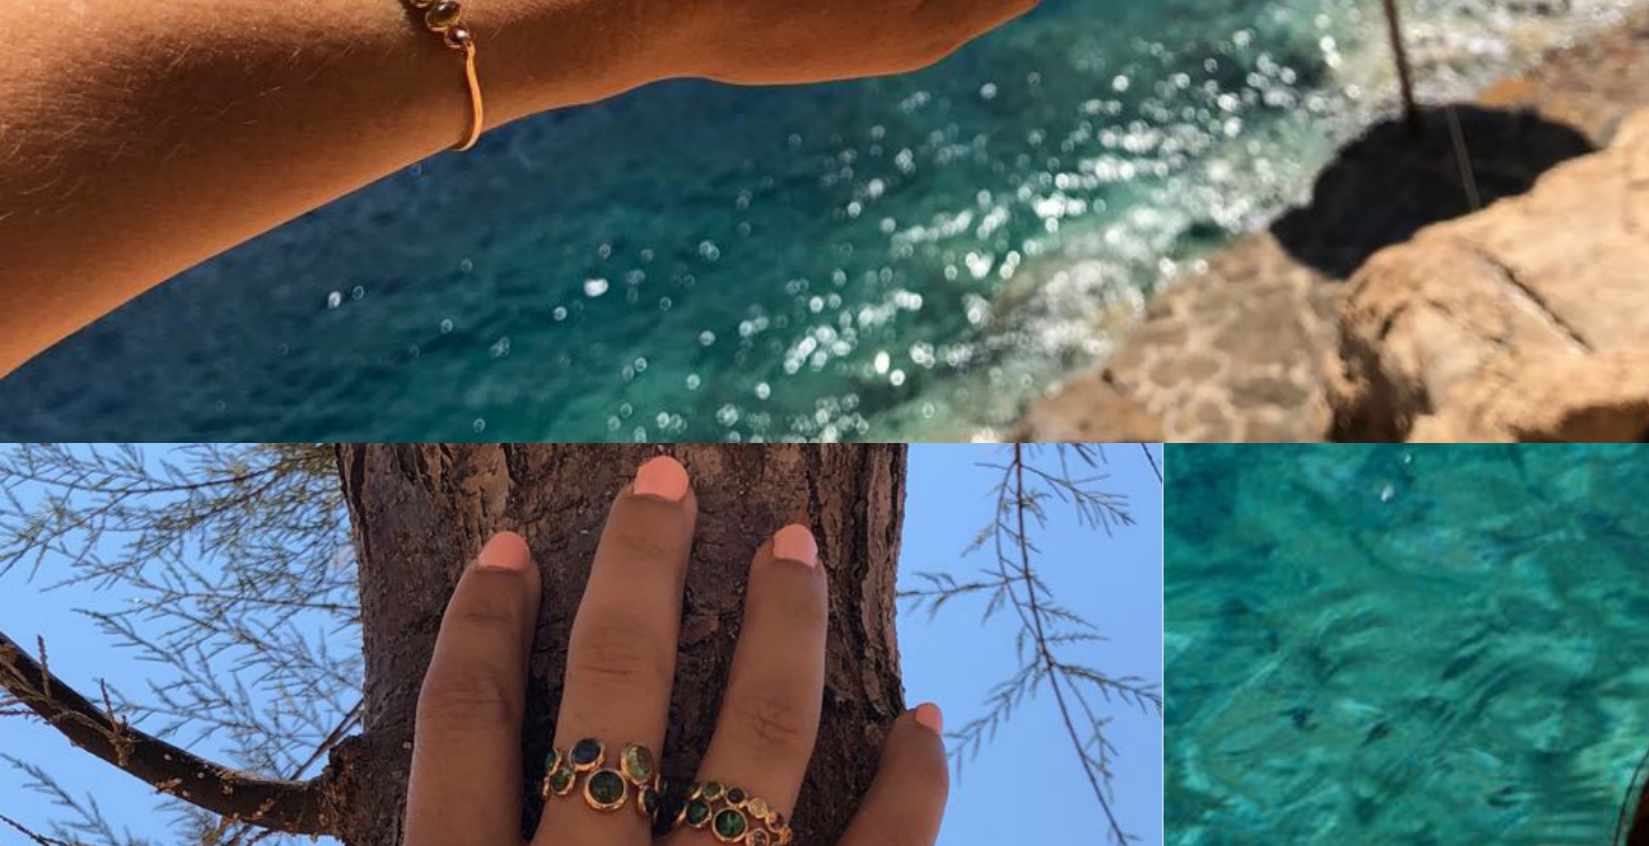

But in the excitement of the return, Theseus forgot his promise and Aegea, who was waiting for his son at the top of Cape Sounion, saw the boat approaching with black sails. Desperate, thinking that Theseus was dead, he threw himself into the sea which has since borne his name.

You know that this is what you will witness and feel throughout your journey. Time stops and mythology takes place.
